LIBA 399

Contributions of Minorities in Healthcare

Details

5 days travel at $1,450 plus tuition

3 Credit Hours

Instructed by: Dr. Sovent Taylor

Travel dates: May 17-22, 2026

Priority Application Deadline: March 27, 2026

Students will:

- Gain an introduction to healthcare experiences of minorities in the U.S. through direct exposure to their historical contributions to the field.
- Develop a deeper cultural awareness in healthcare.
- Gain first-hand experience with community engagement by observing healthcare professionals in various settings, including shadowing and/or volunteering in hospitals, clinics, or with other healthcare providers.
- Explore diverse perspectives and experiences in healthcare. With critical reflection, this course will encourage you to think more deeply about healthcare and the significant contributions made by minorities in the U.S.

Who should go?

Designed for students interested in learning about American Healthcare contributions from a historical perspective through today. May interest students in Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Allied Health Studies, Public Health, Exercise Science and Dietetics and Nutrition.

Prior to Departure

Meet with your Ole Miss instructor and fellow classmates virtually for an introduction to the course.

During Travel

Students make their own travel arrangements to and from the destination. Study USA will arrange all necessary ground transportation during your travel dates, starting from your arrival. Study USA also books and provides double-occupancy rooms. Your instructor will provide exact meeting dates and location during orientation. Students may have their airfare billed to their bursar account. You'll receive details upon course enrollment.

Costs

$1,450 plus tuition. The program fee includes local transportation during course, lodging/Accommodation during travel, select group meals, and group tours listed on the itinerary. Not included are tuition, airfare to and from destination, most meals at travel site, and personal spending money.

Once accepted to a program, the student accepts financial responsibility for Study USA program fees and tuition and must adhere to the application and withdrawal policy.

Itinerary subject to change. Students should wait to make travel arrangements until after confirming dates and times with instructors
